PETITION FOR GUARDIAN IN REGAN CASE IS DISMISSED

Probate Judge White Dismisses Petition of Mrs. Mary Regan Seeking Appointment of Guardian to Conserve Estate of Her Husband, James Regan

Probate Judge White this morning dismissed the petition of Mrs. Mary Regan praying that a guardian be appointed to conserve the estate of her husband, James Regan, president of the John Deere Machine Company of Lowell.

The wife claimed that Mr. Regan, through continued drinking, going and illness was dissipating his estate and she desired a conservator appointed. The hearings, conducted here and in Cambridge, have covered a period of several weeks and concluded here today.

The cross-examination of Mr. Regan was continued this morning, Attorney William H. Wilson, for Mrs. Regan, conducting the examination.

This morning's examination hinged about an agreement entered into by Mr. Regan and Mrs. Regan last January concerning certain things that both were to do in an attempt to clear up the differences then existing.

On cross-examination Mr. Regan stated that he drank first on prescription of his doctor and later, after the date of the above mentioned agreement, when he left the needed liquor for his physical welfare.

An agreement as to how Mr. Regan should spend his spare time was then brought up. Mr. Regan declared that in as far as possible he had lived up to his agreement.

He further stated that up to September he had paid his wife $50 a week. In answer to a question from Mr. Wilson, he said that he was now able to take full charge of his business as, since his separation from his wife, he is not bothered as he had been previously by nagging, scolding and other interference.

He also added that he and his wife could get along all right if his daughters and other relatives would leave him alone.

Mr. Wilson then questioned Mr. Regan concerning his expenses and this matter was closed when the defendant's books were presented as evidence.

Patrick H. Ryan and John Preston Dodge were then called for the defense by Atty. Howard. Both testified to knowing Mr. Regan for many years in a business way and both stated that they had never seen Mr. Regan intoxicated.

The final witness called was Dr. Thomas Waller, who was called by Atty. Wilson. Dr. Waller testified to having been family physician to the Regans for many years and that he had never prescribed intoxicating liquor for any member of the family.

The completed testimony and Attorney Howard then presented a resume of the case.

BROKE ARM WAVING HIS HAT

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 20.—Joseph McKenzie, while watching the football game Saturday between Minnesota and Iowa, snatched off his hat and waved it so hard he broke his arm when Minnesota made the first touchdown.

DROWNED IN VAT OF WINE

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 20.—Louis Russomano was drowned in a vat of wine today when he was overcome by fumes of fermenting grape mash. Samuel Sico, who plunged into the vat to aid him, was rescued by firemen and taken to a hospital. The two were working at the vat, 12 feet deep and 10 in diameter, located in a shed behind Sico's home. Police and prohibition agents at once started an investigation to determine the ownership of the vat.

ARMED BANDIT CAUGHT IN ACT

Captured and Disarmed Just as He Was Committing Robbery of Bank Men

New York Traffic Officer Frustrates Attempt to Hold Up Messengers

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The vigilance of the police, alert to check the latest epidemic of holdups, today thwarted the efforts of a lone bandit to rob two messengers of the Canal Street banking house of Market Brothers of nearly $5000 in cash and checks.

The bandit, who after his capture, gave the name of Jack Shapiro, forced the messengers, at the point of a gun, to descend steps leading into the basement of a loft building. The messengers had been walking along the street when the highwayman stepped out of a doorway, grabbed one by the arm and covered the pair.

A patrolman on traffic duty, noticed the peculiar actions of the trio and followed them into the building. He arrested Shapiro and disarmed him just as he was committing the robbery.

"BALDWIN MISSION" BACK FROM RUSSIA

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A mission of ten business men popularly known as the "Baldwin mission" from the fact that one of its members is related to the prime minister, recently returned from Russia with what is said to be a very optimistic report on conditions in that country. Among the vital points the business men noted, it is stated, are the death of communism, the trust of the people in the soviet government and the general improvement everywhere.

BIG CLASS IN PUBLIC SPEAKING COURSE

John W. McGuinness, vice president of the C.Y.M.C., was the presiding officer at last evening's session of the course in oral English and public speaking now being conducted in the gymnasium rooms. An almost 100 per cent class was in attendance. The class now has 54 pupils.

Prof. Sullivan took up 20 minutes in explaining the best and most appropriate way to begin an address; also the various ways used to "put over" what the speaker desires to impress his audience with. At the close of his instructions, the class was turned over to Mr. McGuinness and Prof. Sullivan sat on the "sidelines" as an interested spectator and made notes as each of the pupils addressed the class.

The subjects discussed last evening were as follows: Advertising, immigration, electricity, bonus, university extension, manufacture of radiators, and the trade union movement, and the 8-hour day. At the next session, the pupils who have not yet had an opportunity to address the class will be called upon first.

PLOT BROUGHT AMERICANS BIG WINNINGS

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—A plot in which five American horsemen were alleged to have made large winnings on Danish race tracks by using forged rate American tractors under forged pedigrees, was revealed by Peter Goode, turfman and racing authority of New York, N. Y., who returned yesterday from Denmark.

Suspended from the Danish race tracks, the Americans eventually would be barred, through international agreement from participating in racing events in the United States, Mr. Goode said. He refused to disclose the names of the offenders.

AGREEMENT ON PROPOSED NOTE

Ambassadors' Council Hits on Compromise Formula Dealing With Germany

Feeling in Paris Just as Optimistic Today as it Was Pessimistic Yesterday

PARIS, Nov. 20.—After six days of negotiations, four meetings and five adjournments, the ambassadors' council has hit on a compromise formula dealing with Germany, which even if it only postpones the evil hour of decision as many maintain, at least also postpones a break in the allied front. It is hoped that both postponements may prove to be indefinite.

The feeling here today was just as optimistic as it was pessimistic yesterday for the agreement to send a note to Germany has been fully endorsed by the French and Belgian cabinets and, judging from the tone of London, will be endorsed by the British, although the French find it difficult to understand why London takes so long to decide.

The agreement on the proposed note, in which the allies will demand that their military control officers shall be allowed to function under adequate protection would be completed before the end of the afternoon.

A hearing on a petition for the distribution of the estate of Rosina H. Gourey, late of Fungshore, who died without leaving a will, was started shortly before the noon recess in probate court before Judge White. The estate is valued at about $74,000 and the claimants are William Gourey, husband of the deceased; Mrs. Mary Lussurance, niece of the deceased; Ross and Myron Merrill, nephews of the deceased, and others.

CLOSE OF ANNUAL Y. M. C. A. FUND DRIVE

The annual fund drive of the Lowell Y.M.C.A. ended with a dinner at the association building last night at which it was announced that $11,201 of the $12,000 desired has been secured during the campaign. In view of the great number of fund drives preceding this and the equally large number to follow, it was held that the association had done as well or even better than might be expected.

Workers of Division A secured subscriptions amounting to $5435. This division was in charge of Harry G. Pollard, and there was a close rivalry with H. Hutchins Parker's Division B workers, whose subscriptions totaled $4870. The executive committee brought in $1353. Gratitude for the generous response of Lowell folk to the fund appeal was voiced at the enthusiastic session.

LAST NIGHT'S FIRES

The fire department received two calls last night. The first was a bell alarm rung in from box 815, at 9:34 p. m. for a fire on Haystack street. The blaze was located in a new house that was under process of construction. The roof was partly destroyed. A telephone alarm at 10:50 brought the trucks tearing to 1335 Middlesex street where a small fire was in progress in an empty tenement there. No damage.

COMMITTEE BARS MRS. MORTIMER

Wife of Star Witness Against Forbes Tried Unsuccessfully to Testify at Hearing

Sought to Vindicate Publicly "Her Character and Good Name"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Katherine Mortimer of Philadelphia, wife of Elias H. Mortimer, star witness against former Director Charles R. Forbes, tried unsuccessfully to testify today before the senate veterans' committee in an effort, she said, to vindicate publicly, "her character and good name."

THE AUDITORIUM ORGAN

Opening Recital on Friday Evening Will Be Free to Public

To the gratification of all concerned it is now possible to announce that the organ recently completed in the Memorial Auditorium, and turned over to the care of the trustees, will be heard for the first time by the public in an opening recital to be given on Friday evening of this week. It will be absolutely free to the public without restrictions of any kind and no tickets will be required.

Fortunately, it has been possible to secure as the organist for the occasion Elmer Tidmarsh of Rome, N. Y., who is thoroughly familiar with the instruments built by the famous Howard Co., who constructed the Lowell organ, and is now organist in a church which possesses one of the finest instruments constructed by that firm. Mr. Tidmarsh studied with Widor, the famous French organist in Paris, and incidentally is conductor of a chorus of 1000 voices in Albany. He promises a program calculated to interest the public generally and to display the resources of the organ.

Since the trustees of the Auditorium have no funds with which to meet the expense of a recital and, in fact, no authority to promote entertainments, Mayor Donovan has guaranteed that the city will take care of the slight expense incident to the recital. This will be very small, since Mr. Tidmarsh, himself interested in musical matters, has agreed to come for a merely nominal sum.

His program and further details of the recital will be announced as soon as received.

Crowd Learning of Discovery Chokes Street — Police Summoned to Scene

Boy's Father Prevented From Viewing Body—Led Away Crying Hysterically

Murder of Child, Police Believe, Was Committed by Degenerate of Lowest Type

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The body of Irving Pickelny, four and one-half years old, who was kidnapped from in front of his Grand street home Oct. 26, today was found in the cellar of a Suffolk street tenement house.

First reports indicated that the boy had been strangled about the body, but Medical Examiner Norris found that the marks were scars of an operation performed on the boy shortly before his disappearance.

The maimed body was found by two gas company employees who went to the cellar to repair a leaky pipe. When their torches cast light on a huddled body in a soap box, they thought it was a figure discarded by the tailor, who occupied the store above. Closer examination, however, revealed it to be that of a child.

Police were summoned and soon a crowd choked the narrow street which is lined with tenements typical of New York's East Side. Inspector Coughlin then identified the child from its clothing. Samuel Pickelny, the boy's father, was present when viewing the body by policemen and was led away crying hysterically. The body then was taken to the morgue for an examination by Medical Examiner Norris.

The murder of the child, Inspector Coughlin said, evidently was committed by a degenerate of the lowest type.

CHRISTMAS SEALS FOR TUBERCULOSIS WORK

The Lowell Tuberculosis Council has this year placed on sale Christmas seals for the support of its tuberculosis work in the city, calls attention to the fact that seals now are being sold from house to house and upon the streets which are not the Lowell council seals, which do not go on sale until early in December.

The council fears that people will purchase the seals now being offered for sale in the belief they are the ones printed and sold each year by the Lowell organization, while, as a matter of fact, the council has no knowledge of the business corporation which is said to be in back of the present effort.

LOWELL TUBERCULOSIS COUNCIL

CITY PLANNING BOARD CONFERS WITH ENGINEER GREELEY

Discussion of Plans for Survey of Traffic, Street and Zoning Conditions—Expert Engaged by Board Takes View and Begins Work on Survey

The city planning board met this forenoon in the office of its secretary, Raymond M. Humphrey, for the purpose of going over plans for a survey of traffic, street and zoning conditions in Lowell with W. R. Greeley of the Boston firm of Kilban, Hopkins & Greeley, zoning engineers, engaged by the board as an expert to make recommendations upon relief plans already suggested and to give to the board what the city engineers desire to cure some of its present ills.

Present at the meeting were Chairman Patrick O'Hearn, Benjamin S. Lounzner, Clarence M. Wood, Dennis J. Murphy, Michael Lee and Secretary Humphrey.

Until such a time as the board has an opportunity to confer with Agent Judge C. Wadleigh of the Merrimack Mfg. Co., action was deferred on the proposal to have the city acquire that portion of Dutton street between Merrimack street and the corporations and to erect a bridge over the canal to connect Dutton and French streets. It was the board's intention to propose the matter to the city council at its meeting tonight, but it will be held over until another time.

With Mr. Greeley the board made a trip about the city this forenoon, looking over suggested sites for new thoroughfares and bridges, particularly across the Concord river and canals to connect East Merrimack and Church or Warren streets.

Mr. Greeley at once went to work on his survey and expects to have it in shape for a report to the planning board on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. At 4 o'clock on that afternoon the board will meet in the mayor's reception room with representatives of the Merrimack Mfg. Co. on the Dutton street proposition and at 4:30 p. m. a conference will be held with the mayor, Engineer Arthur T. Safford of the Locks & Canals, Engineer Stephen Kearney and Park Supt. John W. Kernan, at which time Mr. Greeley will go over the entire local proposition as he views it at the end of the survey.

In his survey Mr. Greeley has unrestricted rein and will consider zoning, traffic, parking, new streets and bridges and everything which would have a tendency to alleviate present crowded conditions.

GIANT NAVY AIRSHIP OBSERVED HERE ON ITS RETURN TRIP TO LAKEHURST, N. J.

The U. S. Shenandoah, the world's largest dirigible airship, which left Lakehurst, N. J., this morning and landed at Boston shortly after 12 o'clock, passed over suburban Lowell in the vicinity of the Billerica, between 1 and 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. From high elevations in the city it could be plainly seen for about 15 minutes, after which it disappeared in the haze and the strong rays of the early afternoon sun.

The navy giant of the air was apparently flying at a low altitude, approximately 3000 feet and was making steady, although not rapid progress. It seemed to be traveling due west and probably is on its return trip to its New Jersey hangar.

Arrives in Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—The great navy dirigible Shenandoah which left Lakehurst, N. J., at 6:57 p. m. today on her frequently postponed visit to New England, reached this city at 12:25 p. m.

As the hour of her arrival here approached, the roof of downtown buildings were dotted with sightseers. They watched an airplane which flew over the city on its way to meet the Shenandoah. From the roof of the city hall, the great bronze eagle which has looked out on many strange sights, seemed to be gazing in wonderment to the southward as the new monarch of the air loomed in sight.

The weather was perfect for the trip. The sky was cloudless, the air clear and a moderate breeze from the southwest favored the dirigible on her trip up the coast. After passing over Brooklyn at 5:30 the Shenandoah headed for the Connecticut shore and was over New London at 10 o'clock. Thence her course carried her over Westerly and Newport, R. I., Fall River, Providence and Brockton.

In every city on the route, crowds turned out to get their first glimpse of the monster craft. Whistles were blown and bells rung in many places. As the dirigible flew at a height ranging from 3000 to 4000 feet the opportunity for observation was excellent.

In the streets all eyes were strained upward as the Shenandoah, her envelope gleaming in the bright sunshine, drifted majestically about the city. In the air above and sea gulls flew wildly about, apparently frightened at this great new bird.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

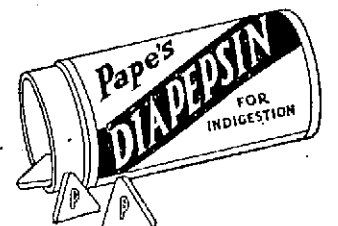

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.—Adv.

LLOYD GEORGE'S CHARGE

Already Lloyd George is profiting politically by the knowledge he gained on his American tour. He is now in the midst of a very important political campaign in Great Britain and is using as one of his leading arguments against protection, the failure of our merchant marine, which he truly says is due to the high protective system that is in force in this country. "As long as the United States," he said, "remains a protective nation, Britain will rule the waves."

He attributes the wealth and power of England to the free trade policy and alleges that the British protectionists will come out of the fiery furnace not canonized but cremated. Well may Lloyd George remark that our great merchant fleet "is the jest of America as it lies rotting at the docks," where he saw it on his recent trip. That is an arraignment of the excessively high tariff policy of the republican party which has always been adverse to a merchant marine. It was that policy that killed our merchant trading service in the past, and it is the same policy, as Lloyd George asserts, that holds our great fleet of trading vessels idle at the docks, instead of carrying our flag and our commerce to the uttermost ends of the earth. Absolute free trade is not to be thought of. It never was the policy of any party in this country; but the profiteering tariff favored by the republican party is productive of many national ills which a moderate tariff would remove. Today it is to blame for the depression in the farming industry and the loss of our foreign markets for manufactured products.

Evidently the protective policy is to be bitterly fought in the canvass now being made by both political parties in England. The only hope of the conservatives is based upon the claim that protection will relieve the industrial situation and cause a resumption of business activity. If Mr. Baldwin can convince the people of this he may win in the coming election, but even then his official career will be brief. Except as a temporary political expedient applied to manufactured products, protection will never be popular in England.

VISIT OF SEC. DAVIS

Secretary of Labor Davis certainly gave the Lowell Order of Moose a great boost by his visit to the order in this city and his stirring address delivered at the Memorial Auditorium.

The secretary directed his attention for a time to the bootlegging of aliens which he claims is even more serious than the bootlegging carried on in the illegal sale of liquor. He would speedily put a stop to the influx of aliens across the border from Canada or at any other point by the application of force if necessary. He made special reference to the fact that seamen are allowed 90 days on shore leave before re-shipment and that as a result they can go far into the interior of the country, where it is impossible afterwards to locate them. He would put a stop to this and would also prevent the influx of radicals by obliging aliens to register on their arrival here; and, if necessary, he would also put a stop to immigration temporarily if it were shown that business depression existed and there was no opportunity for employment of immigrants except by taking jobs away from people already employed. It is well known that Secretary Davis favors selective immigration only and he would have the selection made at the port of embarkation. This would undoubtedly exclude many of the undesirable immigrants and especially the dangerous characters such as are at present terrorizing the city of New York in the role of bandits and gunmen, who can be employed to commit murder or highway robbery for a stated price.

N. Y. SHOPMEN WIN

The announcement from New York that the New York Central railroad management has come to a settlement with its carshop workmen on a "piece work continuance" basis must be good news to the more than 7000 shop workers, who have been fighting so long in that district as well as many other sections of the country, for living wages and proper treatment.

The agreement just announced in New York may affect other wage discussion districts. It is a step forward on the part of the New York Central lines anyhow, and appears to be a settlement that will work out to the better advantage of the carshop workers who have long demanded decent treatment, and were willing to have their demands settled by arbitration.

The details of the new plan are to be worked out gradually as it is impossible to apply the piece work system in all cases; but the general belief is that the arrangement will mean a material increase for certain crafts and better results for the company.

PRaising THE SOVIET

Governor Sweet of Colorado is going through this country extolling the Russian Soviet regime. He has recently been in Russia and was evidently well looked after by the representative of Trotsky and Lenin. Any official who would praise the autonomy of Trotsky is open to the charge of wilfully spreading communist propaganda. Other men more reliable than Governor Sweet have visited Russia and found the conditions and prospects in that country the very opposite of what he has described. Strange that what one man describes as black another will loudly proclaim to be white. Much that the governor says about the production of labor and in advocacy of old age pensions is true; but coming from an official who praises the regime of Trotsky, it is taken with caution.

ABSORB THE B. & M.

It is announced that a movement is on foot in government-railroad circles to have the Boston & Maine line up with the New York Central railroad in a proposed plan of consolidation. It would seem that this would be a very unwise move for the Boston & Maine, not because the New York Central is not a great railroad, but because it is pledged to provide a certain fixed income for the stockholders of the Boston & Maine. If it gave a similar pledge to the Boston & Maine stockholders then it would be all very well; but we do not believe that it will do anything of the kind and, even if it should take on the Boston &

Maine system, the Boston & Albany would still be favored in business for good and sufficient reasons. It would be much better for the Boston & Maine to unite with the Pennsylvania railroad which would then come to Boston and make improvements that would undoubtedly help not only Boston but all of the New England states. The New York Central already reaches Boston, via the Boston & Albany; but beyond bringing that line up to a highly efficient condition the company has done nothing special to promote the welfare of the business of Boston and New England.

AROUND THE WORLD

Possibly following the example set by former President Roosevelt in having the navy make a tour around the world, Secretary of War Weeks now endorses a plan for a flight around the world by a squadron of army airplanes. It will be a new venture and one that will attract world-wide attention. In all probability, it can be accomplished in a surprisingly brief space of time but, nevertheless, it is a hazardous undertaking and may result in fatalities for which the tour will furnish no adequate compensation.

One of the proposed constitutional amendments would provide for the election of president by popular vote. The present method is considered cumbersome; but it is safe and fool-proof. That is why it should not be changed. The authors of the electoral college planned for stability and they planned wisely and well.

Despite the apparent lack of interest in the recent primaries, the list of nominees for the council and school board presents a sufficient number of capable candidates to fill all the prospective vacancies. All now depends upon whether the electorate exercises good judgment in the final choice.

Still the fight for state control of county institutions goes on apace; but with little change in the situation. If one of the state institutions are to be taken as a criterion, they would not furnish any strong argument in favor of extending the system.

Lowell textile mills are now receiving shipments of silk goods from Japan, which is evidence that you cannot use the Japanese silk just as an article, nor overcome textile progress in Lowell by southern competition.

"The gasoline supply exceeds the demand," says a dispatch from Wall Street. If this were a New England farm product, now you know what would happen to the farmer. There is a big difference in controlling prices and having them controlled for you.

Here is the latest novel claim for damages recorded: Farmer sues aeroplane exhibition company for damages caused by sky-rocketing aeroplanes crashing through a barn and burning $10,000 the loss.

Are Messrs. Tench and Johnson really so colorful disciples of Theodore Roosevelt as they are trying to make themselves out to be?

Germany has at last succeeded in driving the entire war between France and England into the past. It is taken with caution.

According to the usual custom Governor Cox issued a proclamation designating the date of Thanksgiving day, as Nov. 29 and the governor, as usual, depicts conditions in glowing colors in setting forth the reasons why we should all give thanks. To all of which we say Amen.

She Knew the Way

The women were discussing a wedding which had taken place in their church the previous day. "And you know," said one, "just as Frank and the widow started up the aisle to the altar every light in the church went out." This startling bit of information was greeted by a number of "W's." "What did the couple do then?" queried one. "Kept on going. The widow knew the way."

Use For Dividends

"I bought some good, safe, dividend-paying stock, thinking it would go up and I would make enough on it to buy an automobile," said a San Franciscoan the other day. "And, of course, it went down," said his friend. "It did not. I sold it for enough profit to go to a car." "Where's the car?" "Why, I found after I sold the stock that I needed the dividends to buy the gasoline."

No "Come Back"

According to a Charleston paper, a youth who expressed a desire for adventure was asked, "Why don't you join Capt. X's expedition? He's looking for recruits for his revolutionary operations in Guatemala." "I haven't got the price of a passage to Guatemala," the candidate for adventure said. "Then I'm out. But how about his furnishing my passage back?" "Don't worry about that. One doesn't come back."

Love and Wealth

There are lots of things to do. Wealth can never help you to. Nor power, nor place—it doesn't take a lot to live for loving's sake. For tenderness and joy, and cheer, To ease some heart and bring it near. The golden moment of its way. In sunlight and softest day. The poorest of us still may be. A source of comfort and of gladness. To those that lean on us alone. For bread, when life has hurried a lone.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Deputy Sheriff E. J. Laroche, former member of the city staff of The Sun, was present at the Gorham street courthouse Monday to open court for Judge Nelson Brown. It was my first glance of the former scribe in the dress uniform of his office. Spiffy is the word. The world lost a great general or admiral when the sheriff decided on newspaper work as a career fifteen years ago.

One of the Lowell Ad club's signs is located in a most favorable and prominent location along the main line of the B. & M. Yesterday I was en route down by train from Concord, N. H. At Nashua Union station, where we stopped for a bit longer than I wished, I couldn't help but admire the fine sign erected on the station green by the Nashua Rotary club. "Nashua, a good place to live; good place to do business in" is the trend of the sign. In addition there is some information about the fact that 2000 freight trains pass through daily and so on. I had just dismissed the sign from my mind when we had started rolling on a bit when another compelling sign loomed up along the railroad's right of way. It was a Lowell Ad club sign inviting the world to "see Lowell's mile of mills" and conveying the information that twelve miles separated us from the Lowell depot. A well placed sign that travelers can't help but see.

That the striking railroad shopmen can still register a kick at the polls was proven at the recent mayoralty election in Concord, N. H. when Mayor Chamberlain was defeated for reelection.

"The railroad wards kicked him" was the word that went out after the ballots were counted. Mayor Chamberlain appealed to the governor for troops when the strike was called in Concord and was held responsible by the electorate for the fact that a battalion of militia spent about three months in the Concord yards.

What made it hit home as much as any one thing was the fact that under the New Hampshire law when troops are called out for service within a municipality at the request of the city's executive the city shall be borne by the city and not by the state. Concord got a sweet bill when the adjutant general of the Granite State got through figuring pay rates and transportation costs for about seven officers and over 200 men for three months or so.

Ping pong has revived to a great extent as a popular indoor game in the boys' department at the Y.M.C.A. several tables are generally kept pretty busy. That enthusiasm over the old game is contagious is shown by the fact that a table placed in the main lobby for the use of older members receives a goodly amount of usage.

A friend of mine who derives considerable pleasure from taking the 15th amendment too seriously, says the constitution was great in Lawrence when federal agents closed the Cold Spring Beverage plant there. He has a "rebut" there in Lawrence that he visits frequently for social reasons and paid his last visit Friday night. A big hussy and her son at the door. "Nothing doing," said the hussy curtly, as he barred the brother from entering his key. "They closed the brewery."

"I'll go in anyway and play a game of pinball," countered the Lowellite. "Nothing doing," repeated the big fellow. "No bet no club, no pinball."

There is much to be said in favor of an immediate no-parking rule in Prescott street for a while at least. For several days now the telephone company has been working in a hole at Prescott and Central streets. With this machine open the traffic must skirt the last place in the street. It tends to complicate a serious situation and the fact that cars are frequently double parked in Prescott street makes this situation even worse. From all indications the phone company is in for a few days more of it so it would appear quite the thing to do to forbid parking in the narrow street until this obstruction be removed.

FIGHT IS ON OVER STATE CONTROL OF COUNTY INSTITUTIONS

Political Leaders Warming Up for the National Campaign—Cordull Hull Coming to Boston to Set the Machinery in Motion Throughout the State

(Special to The Sun) BOSTON, Nov. 20.—Evidence multiplies that the coming fight for state control of county institutions, to be waged before the incoming legislature and later before the electorate of the commonwealth, will be more bitter, and probably more closely contested, than any of those which have preceded it.

This week it was learned that for months there has been conducted a quiet campaign in favor of the movement, and already thousands of voters have been lined up behind the plan, and have promised to use their best efforts to influence the legislature to support it. The work has been done in the churches, and by various civic bodies and organizations.

Some idea of the intensity of the fight may be gleaned that only this week it has disrupted the Massachusetts prison association, an organization which heretofore has progressed along the somewhat even keel of its way, quietly endeavoring to improve the lot of inmates of penal institutions in this state.

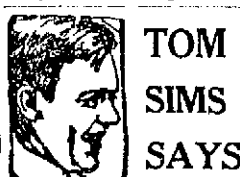

The first break came when a publication issued with the approval of the association was found to contain a blast against the state control bill. This was immediately followed by the resignation of six officers, and the resolutions in turn were followed by a statement from the editor of the publication, defending its utterances and criticizing the retiring officials.

It is an unfortunate row, but it is interesting as indicating the intensity of feeling that has arisen over the issue. Before it reaches the voters next November it is likely to become a fight more rancorous than any the state has known in years.

State Politics Stirring

The respite from politics, due to our recently adopted biennial election system, appears to be at an end, and already lineups are being built for the presidential primaries, to be held in April. Republicans, in particular, are displaying deep interest in the affair, and indications are that there will be a contest for places on the delegate-at-large list.

Heretofore, Massachusetts has elected four delegates-at-large, and at the last primary, 22 district delegates. Under the new plan of the republican national committee, two additional at-large delegates are to be allowed the state, because its electoral vote was cast in 1920 for Harding and Coolidge. Frequently in the past the at-large state has been handicapped, the policy having been to place upon it men who had rendered distinguished service to the party. Women voters and their ambitions, however, are likely to bring about a change in conditions.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

NOT SO LOUD!

Blow your own horn! Speak up and tall
The cock-eyed world that you are present;
Tell people you're alive and well;
A little dope like that is pleasant.

But not too overdo it, bo;
Or folks will only grin and snigger,
They'll think that all you do is blow
And that it's using all your vigor.

A little tooting makes you known,
It helps to advertise you, yea bo;
But toot too much and folks will groan,
"Gosh, but that bird's a loud gazabo!"

Speak up and say your little piece,
But don't forevermore repeat it.
Be brief and to the point—then cease,
Or you will hear the order—"Beat it!"

Blow your own horn and sell your stuff,
You're GOOD, so let the old world know it!
Then quit—at least for long enough
To let some other fellow blow it!

INTERESTING ADDRESS ON "WOMEN IN TURKEY"

Miss Florence Billings addressed the Middlesex Women's club yesterday afternoon on the subject of "Women in Turkey." Miss Billings has only been back in this country a short time, from Ankara and Constantinople.

While there she was the second woman of any nationality to ever attend a meeting of the Turkish parliament. Introducing her subject with a remark that the alma of America and Turkey along the lines of progress are very similar, she remarked on the difficulty of reconciling this fact with the stories we have heard of the conditions in Turkey. She explained this difference by quoting a leader of the Muslim country, who stated that his nation is 200 years behind the times.

A small class of the Turks are well educated and cultured, but the large majority are more or less ignorant and have no knowledge of European affairs. Notwithstanding this they are almost excessive in their hospitality, kindness and honesty and the party in power at present is anxious to have them learn more about the affairs of the Occidental nations. Conditions in Turkey are very mixed, the only method of traveling being either by a rude shaped cart or on horseback, or on foot. Clothing is made of home woven cloth and the methods of cooking are very crude, the food almost always consisting of mutton.

There is much to be learned in this country of the meaning of the word "harem," said the speaker, and it does not mean just the women who are married to the head of the house but is extended to cover servants, relatives, sons and all who live in the house.

The women in the harem are not so brow-beaten as would be supposed, but have in many instances a position of great honor. The first wife is the head of the household in the absence of the father and considers this a position of pride.

The system of justice in Turkey is perverted so badly that a man may be thrown in prison without even knowing what the offense is that he is supposed to have committed, but while in prison he has much more liberty than is the case in America. The officials there let him receive visitors, and in some cases the convicted even dress up and go home for the week end and on his parole to return the following day.

The women in Turkey are agitating for reforms constantly, and are already responsible for the advancement of the country in many ways although they still have a long distance to go.

Miss Billings told in detail just how these reforms are working. Education was formerly limited to the men, and girls received only a primary schooling, whereas the universities have been thrown wide to the young men and girls are even admitted to the medical college. The demand for suffrage is not yet a very strong one, but at a recent election a famous Turkish lady ran for office as deputy, and received many votes from the men. Inheritance laws formerly gave a husband and wife no rights in the property of each after one of them was deceased, but the feeling in this direction is working reforms that will eliminate this part of the law and will give them some interest in the possessions of each other.

Divorce has been obtained by a man by merely declaring three times in front of witnesses "I divorce you," while a woman has had to expend much money to achieve the same result. The agitation for equality in this line is strong and new conditions will soon be reached.

Polygamy is fast dying out and less than five per cent of the men in Turkey have more than one wife, but more than agitation is responsible for this. The Koran, their Bible states that while each of its verses may have more than one wife, each of them must be treated equally and the expense of supporting four women in the same manner is too much for any but the wealthiest men. This phase of Turkish life is much misunderstood in America and some reformers are felt toward this country far its attitude on harem life and polygamy. Seclusion as personified by veiling of the face and confinement to the house is also disappearing, and as a matter of fact has been more of a tradition than a law, and now the women of the country may be seen frequently without any hat or other head ornament.

In closing she stated that life has been made much more endurable and real in late years for the women of the country and that they are slowly attaining their ideal, the American woman.

LIFESAVING TALK AND DEMONSTRATION

A Red Cross lifesaving talk and demonstration was given by Scout troops of the First Baptist church at the Y.M.C.A. last night. Clarence E. Towne, physical director at the "Y," gave the talk, and demonstrations by his assistant, Frank Sawyer, and by Abe Hadden followed.

The Scouts were in charge of Scoutmaster Robert Douglas and Assistant Scoutmaster A. A. Staples. They were accompanied by Scout Committeeman O. A. Tyler. A telephone company demonstration team, headed by Joseph McElrath, will demonstrate first aid methods to the scouts next Monday night.

WALTON TO CARRY REMOVAL TO UNITED STATES COURT

Gubernatorial Career of Oklahoma Man, as Spectacular as it Was Brief, Ends With Order of Removal by Court of Impeachment

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 20 (By the Associated Press).—J. C. Walton's gubernatorial career, as spectacular as it was brief, ended yesterday when the United States supreme court ordered his removal from office.

Deposed by the verdict of a senate court of impeachment, which last yesterday found him guilty of charges of moral turpitude, corruption in office, neglect of duty and incompetency, his term of office as Oklahoma's fifth governor was broken off after little more than 10 months, sensational to the last.

But as his successor prepared formally to take over the reins of government today, Walton girded for a last desperate effort to retain office by invoking the aid of the United States courts clinging tenaciously to the plea that he has not been given a fair trial, with the promise of more dramatic yet to come.

His next move will be made tomorrow when his legal staff appears before a federal judge here for a rehearing of his application for a retroactive injunction to annul the action of the court of impeachment. That failing, an appeal would be taken as a last resort, to the United States supreme court, accompanied by a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to declare him the incumbent until the case is thrashed out before the tribunal.

The deposed executive's original application was denied the day before the impeachment trial opened, and observers see small likelihood that the decision will be reversed after the

EASTERN FOOTBALL'S BIG DAY COMES ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

WILLARD OUT OF LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL LINEUP

RALPH WILLARD

Ralph Willard did not report for practice at Alumni field yesterday afternoon and it appears that he has played his last football game for Lowell.

SPECULATION ON BOYLE-TANSEY BOOT

One of the most talked of matches ever announced for this city will evenuate on Thursday night when Phiney Boyle of Lowell and Tansey Norton of Hoxbury step into the ring at the Moody club show in Crescent rink.

Since early this season when Tansey came here and knocked out Young Martin Flaherty in one round, fans have been pulling for a Tansey-Boyle match. When Tansey paid another visit and won over Johnny Avila, the demand for a meeting between the conqueror of the two local boys and Boyle was revived.

Following the Tansey-Avila bout, comparison and speculation came on all sides. Boyle fought Avila, and won on points. Tansey began to discuss whether Tansey showed better against Avila than Boyle, in the majority of cases it was agreed that Boyle hit Avila more often than Tansey, but the "dopesters" felt Tansey hit Avila harder than Boyle.

With this point added the next question was whether Boyle could withstand Tansey's attack as well as Avila stood up under it. If so, all felt Boyle can capture the boxing glory. Boyle fans believe Boyle is the more skillful and that in his recent bouts he has also shown improved hitting power. Tansey, however, is also quite clever and he appears to carry considerable force in his right. Therefore if Boyle can block the right and his power is equal to Tansey's, Boyle's chances depend upon his ability to score with the right. If he can break down Boyle's guard and land his chances of victory are good.

It shaped up as a great battle.

BATTLING SIKI MEETS KID NORFOLK TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Batling Siki of France, and Kid Norfolk of New York, rival heavyweights, will meet tonight at Madison Square Garden in a 10-round main event, with the 176 pound negro title at stake.

Unusual interest has been manifested in the bout as it will mark the American ring debut of Siki, who sprang to fame by wrestling the world's light heavyweight title from Georges Carpentier only to lose it last March to Mike McTigue on points in a 20-round contest at Dublin.

The battling son of the most picturesque fight characters has trained assiduously and is confident of victory. Critics, however, believe he will have difficulty taking the measure of Norfolk, who is a true hard-hitting opponent, though lacking in aggressiveness.

P. A. C. FOLLOWERS TO ROOT FOR LEW'S TEAM

A large delegation from Pawtucketville, home of the old P.A.C.'s, plans to attend the revival of professional basketball here tomorrow night when the Lowell team will meet the Clinton club in the opening game of the New England basketball league.

The visitors from across the river are going to the Crescent rink to cheer for their old time star, Harry Lew, Lowell's lone survivor of the old days of hectic basketball competition. Lew has been playing basketball for more than 20 years, during which time he has appeared with or against practically all the court stars of note in the country.

His experience and acquaintance with players, rules, clubs and conditions played an important part in the formation of the present league. He was the one to propose the organization and his efforts in forming the teams were mainly responsible for the success thus far enjoyed.

Lew's fair dealings with players and managers have given him a reputation in the game that enables him to get players that others would have difficulty in securing or securing. Hence with him in charge of the Lowell team it is felt that he will be prepared and in a position at all times to secure added strength if ever needed.

For tomorrow night's game Lew has secured what he believes will prove one of the strongest lineups in the league. The only handicap facing Lowell is the fact that the men have yet to play together and consequently they are not yet a team.

Water on the lineup from which the Lowell team will be picked tomorrow night follows: Forward A. Ryan, E. Ryan, J. Poley, center Patton and R. O'Connor, backs like Camp and Lew.

The Clinton team, which has already played four games this season is a strong and fast combination. It will line up as follows:

T. Vetter (C), Brandhardt (F), Baer (C), S. Vetter (F), Brandhardt (F), Baer (C), S. Vetter (F), Brandhardt (F), Baer (C).

An amateur game between the Pawtucket A.C. and the Lowell Celtics will precede the main game. It will start at 7:30 o'clock. The professional game will start at 8:15.

Bolivian address cry, "Death to Europe." It must be great to be admired by a Bolivian.

Casey Stengel, world series hero, is slumped to the grass. And yet some persons insist there is no sentiment in baseball.

Water Camp says only the strong men survive. The weak ones buy gladiators.

American actress challenges prize fighter in France. Realizing that the reporters would fall for the stolen jewels bank she stole.

Mr. Rockwell says consciousness beat his Notre Dame team. We don't recall seeing that name in the Nebraska lineup.

AND THIS IS MEXICO!

It used to be folks went to Mexico for the races and the bull fights. And since a certain amendment to Uncle Sam's constitution became effective others have journeyed across the Rio Grande to quaff mesquite or pulque. But now it looks like there's another reason. Here she is, Maria Cones, who answers so many curtain culls on the Mexican stage.

Recent statistics show that in India there are 345 females to every 1000 males.

ARMOUR EMPLOYEES BUY COMPANY STOCK

Twenty-five employees of the Lowell branch of Armour & Co., in Thorndike street have just taken advantage of the company's offer of preferred stock in the Armour Delaware company on the partial payment plan. It was announced this morning at the local headquarters. William Allan Knierstead, manager of the Lowell branch, highly approves of the action of the local meat handlers, all of whom are taking advantage of the chance to invest in the corporation's financial exchequer, now considered highly substantial from many viewpoints.

Employees interviewed this morning explained that they have taken out stock in the new Armour corporation on the partial payment plan, because more than 40,000 employees in other sections of the country prefer that method of acquiring stock desired. A block of some 30,000 shares was offerred and it was reported today that this had been over-subscribed.

The stock being taken up by employees is 7 per cent cumulative preferred of $100 par value, and was offered to the workmen at 90, many employees paying for the stock at the rate of one dollar weekly. It was estimated that dividends would make the net cost $82.30 a share. Many employees paid cash directly for their stock, but the new Lowell stockholders in the white coats and aprons down on Thorndike street preferred to make it one dollar per week for the present.

Purchasers are given the option of paying for their stock in full at any time, or withdrawing and receiving 6 per cent interest on funds paid in.

NERVOUS DEBILITY AND DIZZY SPELLS

Mrs. Bartol is Enthusiastic About the Remedy That Restored Her Health

"When I was sixteen years old I had a nervous breakdown," says Mrs. Albert Bartol, who lives at No. 2316 Washington street, Roslindale, Mass. "My nerves had been weak and unstrung ever since. Lately my nervousness became more acute. I suffered from blinding headaches during which everything would get black and spin around. I became so dizzy that I had to take hold of something to keep me from falling. I was always tired and did not have any ambition. I had a great craving for food but could not eat. There was a pain across my back and I felt generally run down. My mother had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and she urged me to try them. Within a short time after I began to take the pills there was a decided improvement in my condition. My strength returned, slowly at first, but now I feel like a different person. I eat heartily, my food gives me strength and my nerves are stronger. After what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me I do not hesitate to recommend them to everyone in need of a tonic."

THE ADVERTISING CLUB

Officer Flanagan Talks on Police Work—Winter Carnival Plans

Yesterday's meeting of the Lowell Advertising club, held in Liberty hall was given over to a discussion of plans for the club's future.

Following a satisfying luncheon served by Caterer Harry Cole, President Edward J. Cooney called the meeting to order and asked the members for suggestions concerning the betterment of the club.

The members entered into the matter in earnest and many suggestions were forthwith, aiming towards making the club one of the leading civic organizations in the city.

A vocal selection was given by Charles Keyes and Miss Peggy Dean, after which Officer Edward Flanagan spoke briefly on police work as it is done in Lowell.

Plans for the winter carnival which the Ad club intends to put over again this year are still in a tentative stage. George Wood, chairman of the winter carnival committee named the following sub-committee on arrangements for the Knicker dance: Irene Mathews, Bernice Moody, Paul Doherty and Charles Keyes. The dance will be held in the Auditorium at the close of the events of the winter carnival.

Frank Ricard, committee chairman, reported progress on the plans for the annual souvenir dinner.

On the motion of Dan Carroll, the Ad club voted to get in touch with Congressman John Jacob Rogers, and ask him to see if the itinerary of the Shenandoah, the naval airship, could not be changed so that it would be enabled to pay a visit to Lowell.

STRIVE TO INTENSIFY FOOTBALL INTEREST

"Talk football!"
"Keep on talking football!"
"Attend the football games!"
"Do your bit for football!"

These are but a few of a large number of slogans printed in red ink on backward signs that were tacked around town on buildings, poles, automobiles and also on convenient points inside Lowell high school building today by enthusiastic football rosters, bent upon creating more interest in "L. H. S." school gridiron programs from now on.

No permission was given or asked for the sign-decorating campaign inside the high school buildings and no one objected when the boys joyously put up the hand-painted slogans that are meant solely to arouse more interest in football and pave the way for a large attendance at the Lawrence game on Thanksgiving day.

School officials let the advertising campaign go on without restrictions and the signs will remain until the janitor thinks it is time to remove them when the gridiron season ends.

MELLON PLAN

President Strongly Favors Tax Reduction Program Submitted by Secretary

Expected to Endorse it Flatly in His Message to Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—President Coolidge is strongly inclined toward the Mellon tax reduction program, and is expected by some of his advisers to endorse it flatly in his message to congress.

Such an endorsement, in the opinion of administration officials would be sufficient to sweep aside such opposition as there has been among some republican leaders to a tax revision at the coming session.

With the gathering here of senators and representatives of the majority party, taxation has become one of the principal subjects of client room discussion. Although some of the leaders still insist that to open up the tax schedules would invite endless controversies and lead nowhere, most of them appear to believe that legislative consideration of the Mellon and other reduction proposals is certain.

Since announcement of Mr. Mellon's plan to cut the nation's tax burden, $383,000,000, President Coolidge has been carefully watching the reaction of the country.

The president has received a large number of letters and telegrams endorsing the proposal. A large portion of the over-Sunday mail of about 2000 letters received at the White House had to do with the tax question.

Definite announcement of the president's position, however, is expected to await his message to congress. He had a long talk yesterday with Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican senate leader and is understood to have presented to him the arguments that have been made to the White House in favor of the Mellon program.

Senator Lodge had a long talk with the president today but he declined at forward to reveal what progress had been made toward agreement on an administration policy.

Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, prospective chairman of the senate finance committee, said today he still believed it would be unwise to open up the tax question unless a majority could be pledged to enact the Mellon program without substantial amendment. Practical difficulties from the political alignment of the senate and house, he believes would be a serious impediment. He regards the republican majorities as Telegraph wires were torn down by the wind and rain and roads were washed out in many sections of the islands.

A number of ships which were scheduled to sail were kept in port here by the storm.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Extension of a motor transport service as part of the national transportation system which is recommended by the committee on motor transport of the chamber of commerce of the United States, will in its opinion, permit removal of freight terminations from crowded sections of large cities to the outskirts where cheaper land is available and effect other economies.

nominal only, and believes that democratic and bloc combinations would make the outcome doubtful.

The suggestion that enough democrats might combine with the republicans to put through the Mellon recommendation is not regarded by Senator Smoot as encouraging. He said today, however, that he had no definite information as to how much democratic support might develop.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 13

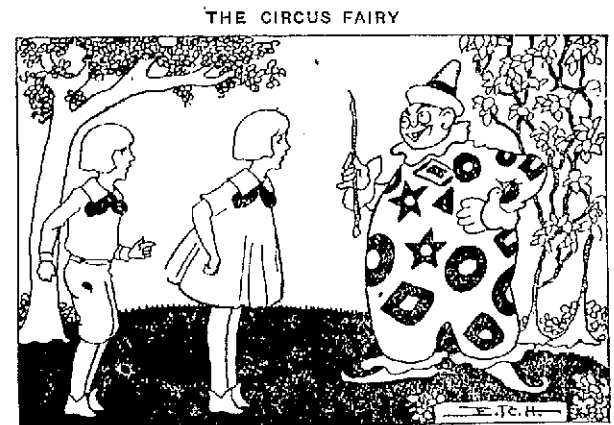

Jack, Bibbs and Nick heard the outburst and came out of the woods. As soon as they joined Jack, one of the natives walked up and handed Jack a large map. Opening it, he found that it was labeled, "The Way to the Gold on Gold Island." And then there were a lot of odd marks.

"Hurrah!" shouted Nick, as he peered over Jack's shoulder. "This really is Gold Island. We're in luck!" Jack then tried to ask the natives where the map came from, but they couldn't understand English and just stood and stared at him. Then a great cry was heard.

All of the natives jumped up and pointed over toward the woods. There stood a large man with long black hair. He was dressed in a tiger skin and held a big bow and arrow in his hand. Suddenly he let out a peculiar cry and the natives all ran over in his direction. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

"HOW DO THEY MAKE PINK LEMONADE?" ASKED NANCY

The next person Nancy and Nick met in Dixie Land was the circus fairy. They didn't know he was a fairy until he told them so. But after he had waived a little stick and changed himself into a parrot and back again, and into a donkey and back again, and into a gold fish and back again, they believed him. He explained that he was in Dixie Land to see about the lemonade-plant crop for next year. "I've just been over to the lemon orchard and the trees are simply loaded," he said. "Great big fellows as yellow as canary birds!" "How do they make pink lemonade?" asked Nancy. "Out of pink lemons," said the circus fairy quickly. "For that is, they would make it out of pink lemons if there were any pink lemons to make it out of. Perhaps they put roses in it. I'll watch next time and see and I'll write you a letter and tell you, if you give me your address. But there! We're spending all our time talking about lemons! As though the elephants cared a whoop-dee about lemonade! Why, they are staying awake nights dreaming I mean worrying about peanuts, and it's up to me to see that the crop of peanuts in Dixie Land is bigger than ever. Come along, kiddies! Left, right, left, right, step to the peanut field. Here we are!"

"Why there isn't a tree!" cried Nick. "I thought nuts grew on trees!" "Not peanuts," explained the circus fairy. "They grow on these little bushes in the sand." "Why, I don't see a nut!" said Nancy, dropping down on her knees. "That's because the peanut bushes are too modest to show. But the nuts are there just the same. As soon as a nut begins to grow on the end of a little branch, the bush shakes the nut down under the sand to do the rest of its growing, and to get ripe. I'm going to peep! Come along and peep, too, if you wish." So Nancy and Nick followed the circus fairy along the sandy dunes, and every here and there where he scraped away patches of sand, wasn't there a fine peanut hiding underneath!

"My, but there are a lot!" said Nick.

"I don't think the elephants need to worry," nodded the circus fairy happily. "Or the children, either. Now I'll go and tell the peanut man to get his roaster ready, and the paper-bag man to get his paper bags ready. Everything is in fine shape in Dixie Land!"

GIANT NAVY AIRSHIP OBSERVED

HERE ON ITS RETURN TRIP TO LAKEHURST, N. J.

The U. S. Shenandoah, the world's largest dirigible airship, which left Lakehurst, N. J., this morning and landed at Boston shortly after 12 o'clock, passed over suburban Lowell in the vicinity of the Billerics, between 1 and 1.30 o'clock this afternoon. From high elevations in the city it could be plainly seen for about 15 minutes, after which it disappeared in the haze and the strong rays of the early afternoon sun.

The navy giant of the air was apparently flying at a low altitude, approximately 3000 feet and was making steady, although not rapid progress. It seemed to be traveling due west and probably is on its return trip to its New Jersey hangar.

Arrives in Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—The great navy dirigible Shenandoah which left Lakehurst, N. J., at 6.37 p. m. today on her frequently postponed visit to New England, reached this city at 12.33 p. m.

As the hour of her arrival here approached roofs of downtown buildings were dotted with sightseers. They watched an airplane which flew over the city on its way to meet the Shenandoah. From the roof of the city hall, the great dirigible, which has looked out on many strange sights, seemed to be gazing in amazement to the southwest as the new monarch of the air landed in sight.

The weather was perfect for the trip. The sky was cloudless, the air crisp and a moderate breeze from the southwest favored the dirigible on her trip up the coast. After passing over Brookline at 2.20 the Shenandoah headed for the Concord shore and was over New London at 3 o'clock. Thence her course carried her over Woburn and Newbury, R. I., Fall River, Providence and Boston.

In every city on the route, crowds turned out to get their first glimpse of the monster craft. Whistles were blown and bells rung in many places.

As the dirigible flew at a height ranging from 2000 to 3000 feet the opportunity for observation was excellent.

In the streets of eyes were strained upward as the Shenandoah, in her envelope gleaming in the bright sunshine, circled majestically above the city. In the air doves and sea gulls flew wildly about, apparently frightened at this great new bird.

First he examined each one of the things as that were by his side and when the covering was lifted, the little face the boy saw collapsed and was carried from the room by attendants, screaming "My boy! My boy!"

Mr. Sullivan has visited 26 clubs so far in his trip, and the subject on which he is addressing them, is an explanation of the work that is being done by the headquarters of the organization, in keeping the wheels of its machinery running smoothly, and also in distributing the various clubs, literature, suggestions and information on various activities which the clubs may consider.

With the purpose in view of taking an active interest therein, as the Lowell Rotarians have the "Boys' club" also explained at some length about the annual conference which is to be held at Toronto, Canada, on June 16 of next year.

A well attended business meeting preceded the talk and reports were given on the progress being made on the ball to be given at the Auditorium on the evening of December 14th, and a letter of thanks from Adolph Ames camp, No. 10, Spanish War Veterans for the use of the automobiles owned by members of the club last week to transport 40 members to a reunion in Fall River.

GIANT NAVY AIRSHIP OBSERVED

HERE ON ITS RETURN TRIP TO LAKEHURST, N. J.

The U. S. Shenandoah, the world's largest dirigible airship, which left Lakehurst, N. J., this morning and landed at Boston shortly after 12 o'clock, passed over suburban Lowell in the vicinity of the Billerics, between 1 and 1.30 o'clock this afternoon. From high elevations in the city it could be plainly seen for about 15 minutes, after which it disappeared in the haze and the strong rays of the early afternoon sun.

The navy giant of the air was apparently flying at a low altitude, approximately 3000 feet and was making steady, although not rapid progress. It seemed to be traveling due west and probably is on its return trip to its New Jersey hangar.

Arrives in Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—The great navy dirigible Shenandoah which left Lakehurst, N. J., at 6.37 p. m. today on her frequently postponed visit to New England, reached this city at 12.33 p. m.

As the hour of her arrival here approached roofs of downtown buildings were dotted with sightseers. They watched an airplane which flew over the city on its way to meet the Shenandoah. From the roof of the city hall, the great dirigible, which has looked out on many strange sights, seemed to be gazing in amazement to the southwest as the new monarch of the air landed in sight.

The weather was perfect for the trip. The sky was cloudless, the air crisp and a moderate breeze from the southwest favored the dirigible on her trip up the coast. After passing over Brookline at 2.20 the Shenandoah headed for the Concord shore and was over New London at 3 o'clock. Thence her course carried her over Woburn and Newbury, R. I., Fall River, Providence and Boston.

In every city on the route, crowds turned out to get their first glimpse of the monster craft. Whistles were blown and bells rung in many places.

As the dirigible flew at a height ranging from 2000 to 3000 feet the opportunity for observation was excellent.

In the streets of eyes were strained upward as the Shenandoah, in her envelope gleaming in the bright sunshine, circled majestically above the city. In the air doves and sea gulls flew wildly about, apparently frightened at this great new bird.

First he examined each one of the things as that were by his side and when the covering was lifted, the little face the boy saw collapsed and was carried from the room by attendants, screaming "My boy! My boy!"

Sought to Vindicate Publicly "Her Character and Good Name"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Katherine Mortimer of Philadelphia, wife of Elias H. Mortimer, star witness against former Director Charles R. Forbes, tried unsuccessfully to testify today before the senate veterans' committee in an effort, she said, to vindicate publicly, "her character and good name."

Responding to the formal request of her counsel, Daniel T. Wright, Chairman Reed said Mrs. Mortimer had been heard at her own request in private, and that if she desired the committee would release her testimony publicly.

He added that the committee also would respond to Mrs. Mortimer in public such questions as her counsel might

NEW GREEK PASTOR HERE

Archbishop Vasilios Comes to Lowell District of Greek Holy Trinity Church

Lowell religious circles have a distinguished new-comer in the person of Archbishop Vasilios, metropolitan of Smyrna, who has taken charge of the Holy Trinity church in connection with local Greek Holy Trinity church on Jefferson street.

This is the first time that an archbishop of the Holy Trinity church has been assigned to a Lowell Christian service location, and the coming of M. Vasilios has caused widespread satisfaction in local Greek-speaking religious and home circles.

At the present time, with the venerable churchman finds a suitable location for his future home, which may be in the Highland district if present plans are consummated, the archbishop's living headquarters will be at the New American house, Central street.

Archbishop Vasilios conducted his first formal religious service as leader of Holy Trinity church last Sunday. The attendance was very large and many church adherents had occasion to greet the new leader.

The distinguished churchman has been in America only about two months. He landed at New York, visiting Greek community churches and meeting prominent citizens there, then proceeded to Philadelphia and Interdenominational conference at Washington, speaking at largely attended meetings of fellow-countrymen and making a splendid impression on enthusiasts of the Greek church faith who flocked to hear him.

In Washington, the archbishop was cordially received by President Coolidge and enjoyed a long chat covering many problems now affecting the Greek nation and religious institutions.

Archbishop Vasilios paid his first visit to Lowell about one month ago and was splendidly received by Lowell Greek-speaking citizens. His coming to Lowell at this time is regarded as a good omen for advancements all along the line in religious and social work in local Greek communities. The new church leader has had a notable theological education, and his record in his native land has been highly praised.

At the Sunday reception to the archbishop in the Lowell Greek church, many citizens were invited to greet the new-comer.

FORTY AIRPLANES IN SPECTACULAR FLIGHT

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 20.—Forty airplanes, including some torpedo planes, all manned by avial airmen, will undertake a long and spectacular flight, immediately after the maneuvers with the United States battle fleet in Caribbean waters next April. It was announced by Captain Albert Marshall, commander of the aircraft squadrons of the battle fleet.

Plans approved by the commander-in-chief of the battle fleet call for the navy aircraft to fly from Cuba to several of the islands of the West Indies and after reaching Miami, Fla., to split into three groups for an aerial tour of virtually every important city in the United States.

CLEAN UP NEW YORK

Police to Drive Out All Persons "Without Honest Means of Support"

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Police today carried out an order issued last night that all known criminals and persons "without honest means of support," or "good reason" for remaining here, must leave the city. The edict of banishment was issued after a conference of all police inspectors and captains who met to formulate a program for abatement of the "crime wave" that swept the city last week. Patrolmen and detectives who went on duty this morning were instructed to look no time in cutting the drug and driving elsewhere all undesirable characters.

Identification of a New York gangster with a long police record as one of the men who shot down two Brooklyn messengers last week and escaped with $13,000, was made yesterday by witnesses of the shooting.

William J. De Barce, charged with operating a motor vehicle in Thirtieth street at a rate of speed exceeding 15 miles an hour, was continued until Nov. 24.

Mrs. Rose Tully Griffin was continued to Saturday on a larceny charge.

John Thomas was found guilty of non-support and placed on probation for a term of two years.

Harry A. McDonald, for violation of the pure food law, was continued until next Monday.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Almost everyone knows that Sage and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two,

your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.—Adv.

Dr. J. P. Lake, Prominent Veterinarian, Tried Tan-lac To Build Up His Health, and Highly Commends the Medicine

"Never in my life have I felt as well as I do now, and never have I known of the equal of Tan-lac," is the unqualified statement made recently by Dr. J. P. Lake, widely known veterinarian and prominent citizen of Manchester, Vt. "In less than a month Tan-lac brought me complete relief from one of the worst cases of stomach troubles a man can have and built up my weight twenty pounds besides. I had gone down to almost a skeleton of myself and began to think my time had come. But Tan-lac saved the day for me and I heartily approve every good thing said about it." DISCUSSION OF SAFETY WEEK CAMPAIGN

"Safety Week" will be observed in Lowell with impressive programs engaging widespread public attention, either in March or April of the coming year. The proposed 1924 campaign was discussed fully at yesterday's meeting of the chamber of commerce directors. It was reported that a committee representing the Lions club, Rotary club and chamber of commerce had met and reported in favor of "a real campaign" at some future date. Three members of each club constitute the committee of nine, which will have charge of the "Safety Week" campaign in Lowell and vicinity. The executive organization will endeavor to obtain strong support in the city at large in the movement to safeguard lives on local highways and cut down the heavy annual death toll due to the use of motor vehicles.

"Community chest" discussions occupied a portion of the directors' weekly dinner program, also. A committee of five members was named to investigate the working out of "community chest" campaigns popular in other New England cities, and a report is expected in a short time.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt relief. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $5.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup. To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup.

Now, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex

LLOYD GEORGE'S CHARGE

Already Lloyd George is profiting politically by the knowledge he gained on his American tour. He is now in the midst of a very important political campaign in Great Britain and is using as one of his leading arguments against protection, the failure of our merchant marine, which he truly says is due to the high protective system that is in force in this country. "As long as the United States," he said, "remains a protective nation, Britain will rule the waves."

He attributes the wealth and power of England to the free trade policy and alleges that the British protectionists will come out of the fiery furnace not canonized but cremated. Well may Lloyd George remark that our great merchant fleet "is the best of America as it lies rotting at the docks," where he saw it on his recent trip. That is an arraignment of the excessively high tariff policy of the republican party which has always been averse to a merchant marine. It was that policy that killed our merchant trading service in the past, and it is the same policy, as Lloyd George asserts, that holds our great fleet of trading vessels idle at the docks, instead of carrying our flag and our commerce to the uttermost ends of the earth. Absolute free trade is not to be thought of. It never was the policy of any party in this country; but the profiteering tariff favored by the republican party is productive of many national ills which a moderate tariff would remove. Today it is to blame for the depression in the farming industry and the loss of our foreign markets for manufactured products.

Evidently the protective policy is to be bitterly fought in the canvass now being made by both political parties in England. The only hope of the conservatives is based upon the claim that protection will relieve the industrial situation and cause a resumption of business activity. If Mr. Baldwin can convince the people of this he may win in the coming election, but even then his official career will be brief. Except as a temporary political expedient applied to manufactured products, protection will never be popular in England.

VISIT OF SEC. DAVIS

Secretary of Labor Davis certainly gave the Lowell Order of Moose a great boost by his visit to the order in this city and his stirring address delivered at the Memorial Auditorium.

The secretary directed his attention for a time to the bootlegging of alcohol which he claims is even more serious than the bootlegging carried on in the illegal sale of liquor. He would speedily put a stop to the influx of alcohol across the border from Canada or any other point by the application of force if necessary. He made special reference to the fact that seamen are allowed 40 days on shore leave before being shipped and that as a result they can go far into the interior of the country, where it is impossible afterwards to locate them. He would put a stop to this and would also prevent the influx of radicals by obliging aliens to register on their arrival here; and, if necessary, he would also put a stop to immigration temporarily if it were shown that business depression existed and there was no opportunity for employment of immigrants except by taking jobs away from people already employed. It is well known that Secretary Davis favors selective immigration only and he would have the selection made at the port of embarkation. This would undoubtedly exclude many of the undesirable immigrants and especially the dangerous characters such as are at present terrorizing the city of New York in the role of bandits and gunmen, who can be employed to commit murder or highway robbery for a stated price.

N. Y. SHOPMEN WIN

The announcement from New York that the New York Central railroad management has come to a settlement with its carshop workmen on a "piece work continuance" basis must be good news to the more than 7000 shop workers, who have been fighting so long in that district as well as many other sections of the country, for living wages and proper treatment.

The agreement just announced in New York may affect other wage discussion districts. It is a step forward on the part of the New York Central lines anyhow, and appears to be a settlement that will work out to the better advantage of the carshop workers who have long demanded decent treatment, and were willing to have their demands settled by arbitration.

The details of the new plan are to be worked out gradually as it is impossible to apply the piece work system in all cases; but the general belief is that the arrangement will mean a material increase for certain crafts and better results for the company.

PRaising THE SOVIET

Governor Sweet of Colorado is going through this country extolling the Russian Soviet regime. He has recently been in Russia and was evidently well looked after by the representative of Trotsky and Lenin. Any official who would praise the autonomy of Trotsky is open to the charge of fully spreading communistic propaganda. Other men more reliable than Governor Sweet have visited Russia and found the conditions and prospects in that country the very opposite of what he has described. Strange that what one man describes as black another will loudly proclaim to be white. Much that the governor says about the protection of labor and in advocacy of old age pensions is true; but coming from an official who praises the regime of Trotsky, it is taken with caution.

ABSORB THE B. & M.

It is announced that a movement is on foot in government-railroad circles to have the Boston & Maine linked up with the New York Central railroad in a proposed plan of consolidation. It would seem that this would be a very unwise move for the Boston & Maine, not because the New York Central is not a great railroad, but because it is pledged to provide a certain fixed income for the stockholders of the Boston & Maine. If it gave a similar pledge to the Boston & Maine stockholders, then it would be all very well; but we do not believe that it will do anything of the kind and, even if it should take on the Boston &

She Knew the Way

The women were discussing a wedding which had taken place in their church the previous day. "And do you know," said one, "just as Frank and the widow started up the aisle to the altar every light in the church went out." This was startling bit of information was given by a number of "O's." "What did the couple do then?" required one. "Kept on going. The widow knew the way."

Use For Dividends

"I bought some good, safe, dividend-paying stock, thinking it would go up and I would make enough on it to buy an automobile," said a San Francisco man the other day. "And, of course, it went down," said his friend. "It did not," he sold it for enough profit to get a car. "Where's the car?" "Why, I found after I sold the stock that I needed the dividends to buy the gasoline."

No "Come Back"

According to a Charleston paper, a youth who expressed a desire for adventure was asked, "Why don't you join Cant. X's expedition? He is looking for recruits for his revolutionary operations in Guatemala." "I haven't got the price of a passage to Guatemala," the youth replied. "The captain furnishes you passage and equipment free." "Then, I'm on. But how about his furnishing my passage back?" "Don't worry about that. One doesn't come back."

Love and Wealth

There are lots of things to do. Wealth can never help you to. Nor power, nor place—it doesn't take a lot to live for loving's sake. For tenderness and joy and cheer. To ease some heart and bring it near. The golden moment of its way in sunlight and in shadow. The poorest of us still may be a source of comfort and of gladness. To those that turn to us alone. For bread, when life has hurried a stone.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Deputy Sheriff E. J. Laroche, former member of the city staff of the Sun, was present at the Corham street courthouse Monday to open court for Justice Nelson Brown. It was my first glimpse of the former editor of the Sun. He is a man of about 40 years of age, dressed in a suit and tie, and looking the part of a man who has been in the world. The world lost a great general or admiral when the sheriff decided on newspaper work as a career fifteen years ago.

One of the Lowell Ad Club's signs is located in a most favorable and prominent location along the main line of the B. & M. Yesterday I was on route down from Concord, N. H. at Nashua Union station, where we stopped for a bit longer than I wished. I couldn't help but admire the fine sign erected on the station green by the Nashua Ad Club. "Nashua, a good place to live; a good place to do business." In addition there is some information about the fact that 2,000 freight trains pass through daily and so on. I had just dismissed the sign from my mind when we had started rolling on a bit when another compelling sign loomed up along the railroad right of way. It was a Lowell Ad Club sign inviting the world to "see Lowell's mile of mills" and conveying the information that traveling miles separated us from the Lowell depot. A well placed sign that travelers can't help but see.

That the striking railroad shopmen can still register a kick at the polls was proved at the recent mayoralty election in Concord, N. H. when Mayor Chamberlain was defeated for reelection.

"The railroad wards kicked him," was the word that went out after the ballots were counted. Mayor Chamberlain appealed to the governor for troops when the strike was called in Concord and was held responsible by the legislature for the fact that a battalion of militia spent about three months in the Concord yards.

What made it hit home as much as any one thing was the fact that under the New Hampshire law when troops are called out for service within a municipality at the request of the city's executive the cost shall be borne by the city and not by the state.

General Got a sweet bill when the adjutant general of the Granite State got through figuring pay rates, and transportation costs for about seven officers and over 200 men for three months or so.

Pink pong has revived to a great extent as a popular indoor game. In the boys' department at the Y.M.C.A. several tables are generally kept pretty busy. That enthusiastic over the old game is contagious is shown by the fact that a table placed in the main lobby for the use of other members receives a goodly amount of usage.

A friend of mine who derives considerable pleasure from not taking the 18th amendment too seriously, says the conservation was great in Lawrence when federal agents closed the Cold Spring beverage plant there. He has a "club" there in Lawrence that he visits frequently for social reasons and paid his last visit Friday night. A big husky met him at the door.

"Nothing doing," said the husky curley, as he looked the brother from his key. "They closed the brewery."

"I'll go in anyway and play a game of pinball," countered the Lowellite. "Nothing doing," repeated the big fellow. "No beer, no club, no pinball."

FIGHT IS ON OVER STATE CONTROL OF COUNTY INSTITUTIONS.

Political Leaders Warming Up for the National Campaign—Cordull Hull Coming to Boston to Set the Machinery in Motion Throughout the State

(Special to The Sun) BOSTON, Nov. 20.—Evidence multiplies that the coming fight for state control of county institutions, to be waged before the incoming legislature and later before the electorate of the commonwealth, will be more bitter, and probably more closely contested, than any of those which have preceded it.

This week it has been learned that for months there has been conducted a quiet campaign in favor of the movement, and already thousands of voters have been lined up behind the plan, and have promised to use their best efforts to influence the legislature to support it. The work has been done in the churches, and by various civic bodies and organizations.

Some idea of the intensity of the fight may be gleaned that only this week it has disrupted the Massachusetts prison association, an organization which heretofore has progressed along the somewhat even tenor of its way, quietly endeavoring to improve the lot of inmates of penal institutions in this state.

The first break came when a publication issued with the approval of the association was found to contain a blast against the state control bill. This was immediately followed by the resignation of six officers, and the resignations in turn were followed by a statement from the editor of the publication, defending its utterances and criticizing the resigning officials.

It is an unfortunate row, but it is interesting as indicating the intensity of feeling that has arisen over the issue. Before it reaches the voters next November it is likely to become a fight more rancorous than any the state has known in years.

State Politics Stirring

The respite from politics, due to our recently adopted biennial election system, appears to be at an end, and already lineups are being built for the presidential primaries, to be held in April. Republicans, in particular, are displaying great interest in the affair, and indications are that there will be a contest for places on the delegate-at-large list.

Heretofore, Massachusetts has elected four delegates-at-large, and on the last primary, 32 district delegates. Under the new plan of the republican national committee, two additional at-large delegates are to be allowed the state, because its electoral vote was cast in 1920 for Harding and Coolidge.

Presently in the past the at-large slots have been handled, the policy having been to place upon it men who had rendered distinguished service to the party. Women voters and their ambitions, however, are likely to bring about a change in conditions.

In past campaigns the democrats have been chronically short of funds, due in part to their horror of contributions from trusts or the so-called interests.

Registry of Motor Vehicles

Inspectors of the registry of motor vehicles are in a quandary, and are wondering just how they are to enforce the law against drunken drivers. Recently Registrar Frank A. Goodwin decided that, in view of the number of licenses he was forced to revoke for drunken driving, it might be well to have a printed form and thus save clerical work. The form reads "Driving a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor." Said the inspectors at once that it is difficult enough to determine when an operator is "under the influence," if they have to determine the same condition in respect to the vehicle, they threaten to throw up the job.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

NOT SO LOUD!

Blow your own horn! Speak up and tell
The cock-eyed world that you are present;
Tell people you're alive and well;
A little dope like that is pleasant.

But do not overdo it, ho;
Or folks will only grin and snigger,
They'll think that all you do is blow
And that it's using all your vigor.

A little tooting makes you known,
It helps to advertise you, you ho;
But toot too much and folks will groan,
"Gosh, but that bird's a loud gazabo!"

Speak up and say your little piece,
But don't forevermore repeat it.
Be brief and to the point—then cease,
Or you will hear the order—"Beat it!"

Blow your own horn and sell your stuff,
You're GOOD, so let the old world know it!
Then quit—at least for long enough
To let some other fellow blow it!

INTERESTING ADDRESS ON "WOMEN IN TURKEY"

Miss Florence Billings addressed the Middlesex Women's club yesterday afternoon on the subject of "Women in Turkey." Miss Billings has only been back in this country a short time, from Angora and Constantinople, where she spent four years in the service of the American Red Cross.

While there she was the second woman of any nationality to ever attend a meeting of the Turkish parliament.

Introducing her subject with a remark that the aims of Armenia and Turkey along the lines of progress are very similar, she remarked on the difficulty of reconciling this fact with the stories we have heard of the conditions in Turkey. She explained this difference by quoting a leader of the Muslim country, who stated that his nation is 200 years behind the times.

A small class of the Turks are well educated and cultured, but the large majority are more or less ignorant and have no knowledge of European affairs. Notwithstanding this they are almost excessive in their hospitality, kindness and honesty and the party in power at present is anxious to have them learn more about the affairs of the Occidental nations. Conditions in Turkey are very medieval, the only method of traveling being either by a rude shaped cart or on horseback.

Clothing is made of home woven cloth and the methods of cooking are very crude, the food almost always consisting of mutton.

There is a misconception in this country of the meaning of the word "harem," said the speaker, and it does not mean just the women who are married to the head of the household, but is extended to cover servants, relatives, sons and all who live in the house.

The women in the harem are not so brow-beaten as would be supposed, but have in many instances a position of great honor. The first wife is the head of the household in the absence of the father and considers this a position of pride.

The system of justice in Turkey is perverted so badly that a man may be thrown in prison without even knowing what the offense is that he is supposed to have committed, but while in prison he has much more liberty than is the case in America. The officials there let him receive visitors, and in some cases the convict may even dress up and go home for the week end on his parole to return the following day.

The women in Turkey are agitating for reforms constantly, and are already responsible for the advancement of the country in many ways although they still have a long distance to go.

Miss Billings told in detail just how these reforms are working. Education was formerly limited to the men, and girls received only a primary schooling, whereas the universities have been thrown wide to the co-ed system and girls are even admitted to the medical college. The demand for suffrage is not set at a very strong one, but at a recent election a famous Turkish lady ran for office as deputy, and received many votes from the men. Inheritance laws formerly gave a husband and wife no rights in the property of each after one of them was deceased, but the feeling in this direction is working reforms that will eliminate this part of the law and will give them some interest in the possessions of each other.

Divorce has been obtained by a man by merely declaring three times in front of witnesses "I divorce you," while a woman has had to expend much money to achieve the same results. The agitation for equality in this line is strong and new conditions will soon be reached.

Polymyria is fast dying out and less than five per cent of the women in Turkey have more than one wife, but more than agitation is responsible for this. The Koran, their Bible, states that while each of its devotees may have more than one wife, each of them must be treated equally and the expense of supporting four women in the same manner is too much for any but the wealthiest men. This phase of Turkish life is much misunderstood in America and some resentment is felt toward this country for its attitude on harem life and polygamy.

Seclusion as personified by veiling of the face and confinement to the house is also disappearing, as is a matter of fact, has been more of a tradition than a law, and now the women of the country may be seen frequently without any hat or other head ornament.

In closing she stated that life has been made much more enjoyable and real in Turkey for the women of the country and that they are slowly attaining their ideal, the American woman.

LIFESAVING TALK AND DEMONSTRATION

WALTON TO CARRY REMOVAL TO UNITED STATES COURT

Gubernatorial Career of Oklahoma Man, as Spectacular as it Was Brief, Ends With Order of Removal by Court of Impeachment

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 20 (By the Associated Press).—J. C. Walton's gubernatorial career, as spectacular as it was brief, is ended.

Deposed by the verdict of a senate court of impeachment, which late yesterday found him guilty of charges of moral turpitude, corruption in office, neglect of duty and incompetency, his term of office as Oklahoma's fifth governor was broken off after little more than 10 months, sensational to the last.

But as his successor prepared formally to take over the reins of government today, Walton glided for a last desperate effort to retain office by invoking the aid of the United States courts, clinging tenaciously to the idea that he has not been given a fair trial, with the promise of more dramatic yet to come.

His next move will be made tomorrow when his legal staff appears before a federal judge here for a rehearing of his application for a retroactive injunction to annul the action of the court of impeachment. That failing, an appeal would be taken as a last resort to the United States supreme court, accompanied by a petition for a writ of superdenegatio to declare him the incumbent until the case is thrashed out before the tribunal.

The deposed executive's original application was denied the day before the impeachment trial opened, and observers see scant likelihood that the decision will be reversed after the hearing. Neither is it probable, they say, that the United States supreme court will intervene, should the local federal court affirm its previous ruling on grounds that it has no jurisdiction in the case.

Walton's removal was decreed by unanimous vote of the senate court after he had been convicted upon 11 of the 16 impeachment articles upon which he was prosecuted, and his application had been denied for a new trial.

The record showed verdicts for acquittal on five of the charges. The votes on two of the articles were unanimous for conviction, and the others upon which guilty verdicts were passed were voted by substantial majorities.

Six of the original 12 charges upon which the executive was impeached by the lower house of the state legislature were dismissed on motion of the board of prosecution. All of those grew out of Walton's marital law declarations.

The court today will consider a motion to assess all costs of the trial against the deposed governor.

A statement is expected from the defense today.

Walton last night angrily refused to comment.

Lieut. Gov. Trapp, who has been acting executive since Walton's suspension before his trial and who automatically becomes governor, declared he would address the legislature within the next two or three days.

LOWELL MAN HONORED

William H. Wilson on New University Club Alumni Building Committee

Lowell is ably represented on the imposing men's collegiate committee arranging for the immediate erection of a modern college alumni club building in the Copley square district, Boston.

It is to be known as University club, the first institution of its kind ever erected by graduates of all-American colleges for a central meeting place and haven of rest and nourishment for alumni visitors to Boston.

William H. Wilson of 811 Westford street, this city, well known member of the firm of McIntire & Wilson, attorneys, has been selected to represent this district on the building committee.

Mr. Wilson is a graduate of University of Rochester (N. Y.), class of 1885, and is pleased with his appointment and also delighted to be of service in the new promotion work for the benefit of all college alumni members.

The problems of site for University club headquarters are now settled and plans are being rapidly forward toward the erection of a magnificent and commodious building in Boston that will gratify old and new graduates of American colleges and prove serviceable to all who may visit Boston to renew old friendships.

In order that all colleges may have an active part in the enterprise, there has been formed a committee which includes representatives of every institution which has alumni residents in Boston and vicinity.

The Lowell member of the bar is a native of Warsaw, N. Y., a town located about 10 miles from Rochester. He was graduated from University of Rochester in 1885 with a class of 37 members, most of whom are living and who conduct annual midwinter and midsummer reunions at the Boston City club. Attorney Wilson never fails to attend these social get-togethers.

The Lowell lawyer was affiliated with the Lawyers' Educational Publishing company in Rochester for several years, later practiced in Buffalo legal circles in 1888 and later, in the 90s, lived and worked in St. Dakota.

Mr. Wilson is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi of his university and also president of the New England Alumni association.

BIG FIRE, SMOKE AND WATER SALE

The man who has not yet purchased his winter overcoat, or suit, his underwear, hosiery and other dress accessories is most fortunate because his dollar is going to be worth at least double in the great fire, smoke and water sale of Newman's store to go on sale at "The Man's Store," 227 Central street, next Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

The big Fiske block fire of a fortnight ago compelled Newman's to close up on account of smoke and water damage. A settlement with the insurance companies was made early this week, and Mr. Harry Newman now proposes to sell the entire stocks of men's clothing and furnishings at unheard-of prices. In other words, the insurance companies' losses are to be turned over to the Newman store's customers.

Extra selections have been emarked and record breaking crowds are expected and carefully arranged for.

Elsewhere in today's paper is the first announcement of the sale and the bargains will interest everyone.

TRAINMEN MOURN DEATH OF VETERAN CONDUCTOR

Edward A. Littlefield, veteran passenger conductor of the Boston & Maine railroad, who formerly lived for many years in Lowell, died yesterday at his home on Chandler st., West Somerville.

He was born in Dover, N. H., July 29, 1855, and had been a resident of West Somerville, Lowell and Portland at different times. He moved from this city to Somerville when given a new berth after running out of Lowell for many months. Later he was conductor on the famous midnight Bar Harbor express that made record-breaking trips between Boston and the exclusive social center of the Maine coast.

Mr. Littlefield was a Mason, Shriner, past commander of the Knights of Malta and a long-time member of the Elks. He is survived by his wife, a son, Edward Littlefield, Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. George Barnard of Cleveland, O.

Engineer Ephraim Brown, of the local roundhouse, a veteran member of the local R. and M. rail forces, is among those who will endeavor to attend the Littlefield obsequies.

Boy Scout Membership Drive Progressing

Last night's meetings at various spots indicated that the fall recruiting drive of the Boy Scouts in this city is near to completion.

The Grace Universalist troop, 17, held a tenderfoot exam, for 20 of its members last night under the direction of Scoutmaster Roger W. Gage, and plans were made for a picnic hike to be held on Saturday, on which tests for fire building and cooking will be held and the boys who successfully pass will be advanced toward the grade of second-class scout. The troop now lacks but 4 or 5 of the quota of 32 members which they are allowed to have.

Troop 15 of the Chestnut Street Baptist church also met last night and took a course of instruction in knot tying from Mr. Pickert, a veteran of the Civil war, who saw service in the Engineer corps during that conflict. In addition to his instruction he told stories of his soldier days and illustrated by example the many phases the ability to tie knots had helped him out.

The Bartlett school troop, 23, held its first regular meeting last night under the direction of Scoutmaster Joseph Duffy, assisted by John H. Lamphere, Jr., senior patrol leader of Troop 10. The work of organization was forwarded and preparation made for tests and other activities during the winter.

EASTERN FOOTBALL'S BIG DAY COMES ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

WILLARD OUT OF LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL LINEUP

RALPH WILLARD

Ralph Willard did not report for practice at Alumni field yesterday afternoon and it appears that he has played his last football game for Lowell.

In the game with Wakefield last Saturday, Willard was injured and was playing a football game when he fractured the tip of the clavicle in his arm and was forced into retirement. Examination showed the injury to be a painful one and little hope is expressed of his participating in the big game with Lawrence high on the morning of turkey day.

Willard winds up his high school career next June and has been a football, basketball and track star during his course.

SPECULATION ON BOYLE-TANSEY BOUT

One of the most talked of matches ever announced for this city will eventuate on Thursday night when John Boyle of Lowell and Tansy Norton of Roxbury step into the ring at the Moody club show in Crescent rink.

Since early this season when Tansy came here and knocked out young Martin Flaherty in one round, Boyle has been pulling for a Tansy match. Then when Tansy paid another visit and won over Johnny Avila, the demand for a meeting between the champion of the two local boys and Boyle was revived.

Following the Tansy Avila bout, comparison and speculation came on all sides. Boyle fought Avila, and won on points. Fans began to discuss whether Tansy showed better against Avila than Boyle. In the majority of cases it was agreed that Boyle hit Avila more often than Tansy, but the "dopesters" felt Tansy hit Avila harder than Boyle.

With this point decided the next aspect was whether Boyle could withstand Tansy's attack as well as Avila stood up under it. If so, all Boyle can expect is a draw with Tansy, but Boyle has shown he is a more skilful and that in his recent bouts he has also shown improved hitting power. Tansy, however, is also quite clever and he appears to carry considerable force in his right. Therefore if Boyle can block the right and lay successfully on enough to win, Tansy's chances depend upon his ability to score with the right if he can break down Boyle's defense and land his chances of victory are good. It shapes up as a great battle.

BATTLING SIKI MEETS KID NORFOLK TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Batling siki of France, Kid Norfolk, of New York, rival negro fight heavyweights, will meet tonight at Madison Square Garden in a 15-round match, with the 175 pound negro title at stake. Unusual interest has been manifested in the bout as it will mark the American ring debut of Siki, who means to take by wrestling the world's heavyweight title from Georges Carpentier, only to lose it last March to Mike McFadden in a 20-round contest at Dublin.

The heavier side of the most picturesque and dangerous has trained accordingly and is confident of victory. Critics, however, believe he will have difficulty taking the measure of Norfolk, who is a rugged, hard-hitting opponent, though lacking in aggressiveness.

P. A. C. FOLLOWERS TO ROOT FOR LEW'S TEAM

A large delegation from Pawtucketville, home of the old P.A.C.'s plans to attend the revival of professional basketball here tomorrow night when the Lowell team will meet the Clinton club in the opening game of the New England basketball league.

The visitors from across the river are going to the Crescent rink to cheer for their old time star, Harry Lew. Lowell's lone survivor of the old days of hectic basketball competition. Lew has been playing basketball for more than 20 years, during which time he has appeared with original practically all the court stars of note in the country.

His experience and acquaintance with players, rules, cities and conditions played an important part in the formation of the present league. He was the one to propose the organization and his efforts in lining up the teams were mainly responsible for the success thus far enjoyed.

Lew's four coaches, who players and managers have given him a reputation in the game that enables him to get players that others would have difficulty in procuring, are meeting here with him in charge of the Lowell team. It is felt that he will be prepared and in a position at all times to secure added strength if ever needed.

For tomorrow night's game Lew has secured what he believes will prove one of the strongest lineups in the league. The only handicap facing Lowell is the fact that the men have yet to play together and consequently they will not be as good as good as later on. The lineup from which the Lowell team will be picked tomorrow night follows: Forwards A. Ryan, Pontius, J. Foley, center Dalton and D. Connor, backs Kamp and Lew.

The Clinton team, which has already played four games this season, is a strong and fast combination. It will line up as follows:

T. Varns of Danvers, H. Baer of S. Varns of Portland, H. Schneider and O. D'Elia, substitutes.

An amateur game between the Pawtucket A.C. and the Lowell Celtics will precede the big game. It will start at 7:30 o'clock. The professional game will start at 8:15.

Bobbin addition, "Death to Pimp."

It must be great to be admired by a bobbin.

Cassy Stencil and series here, is shunted to the floor.

Mr. Tackles and co. business beat the Notre Dame team.

We don't recall seeing that name in the Nebraska lineup.

ZEV WINS!

PWhoto of Finish of Most Discussed Race of the Year

Zev, beat In Memoriam in the match race at Churchill Downs—according to the judges. Many spectators at the track, however, were firm in the opinion the race ended in a dead heat, some even thinking In Memoriam was the winner. This photo of the finish of what will be the most discussed race of the year, shows the horses apparently neck and neck. Zev has the white hood on his head.

BOWLING

HARVARD AND YALE, ARMY AND NAVY, OLD FOES, READY FOR BATTLE

Yale Faces Opportunity to Win First Big Three Title in Seven Years—Army-Navy Outcome Considered "Toss Up"—Harvard Hopes to Stop Bulldog

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Army and Navy, Harvard and Yale, old foes for old championships, continued today their preparations for battle Saturday, eastern football's big day.

Yale, with its great backfield, faces an opportunity to win its first big three title in seven years. The Army-Navy outcome, as the spectators see it, is what is generally called a "toss up." Despite the fact that every one of the "experts" has predicted a victory for the bulldog in the Harvard stadium, a sturdy defense is being built by Harvard and "Red Jones" all-star backfield may find it difficult to be conservative in predicting what the bulldog will do to the Crimson Saturday. Tack Harvard warns Yale men not to mortgage their homes to water on their team. Ed Robinson, coach at Brown, whose eleven won from the Crimson last Saturday, expressed the belief that Harvard could not be relieved to the background as a competitor for a winning score.

GAVE MICHIGAN WINNING TOUCHDOWN

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Full responsibility for the decision giving Michigan the winning touchdown in the Michigan-Wisconsin game at Madison, last Saturday, has been assumed by Col. Morton C. Mumma, field judge of the game.

Walter Eckersall, referee, who rendered the decision after consulting with Col. Mumma, was "subjected to unjust criticism and even mob violence" as a result of the ruling, according to Col. Mumma. The ruling was made after Rockwell, Michigan's quarterback ran 25 yards for a touchdown after Wisconsin players thought he had been downed. Eckersall, after consulting the field judge, held Rockwell had not been legally tackled and was not in the grasp of a Wisconsin player while on the ground and consequently was not downed.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 13

Jack, Bibbs and Nick heard the outburst and came out of the woods. As soon as they joined Jack, one of the natives walked up and handed Jack a large map. Opening it, he found that it was labeled, "The Way to the Gold of Gold Island." And then there were a lot of odd marks.

"Hurrah!" shouted Nick, as he peered over Jack's shoulder. "This really is Gold Island. We're in luck!" Jack then tried to ask the natives where the map came from, but they couldn't understand English and just stood and stared at him. Then a great cry was heard.

All of the natives jumped up and pointed over toward the woods. There stood a large man with long black hair. He was dressed in a tiger skin and held a big bow and arrow in his hand. Suddenly he let out a peculiar cry and the natives all ran in his direction. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

"HOW DO THEY MAKE PINK LEMONADE?" ASKED NANCY

The next person Nancy and Nick met in Dixie Land was the circus fairy.

"They didn't know he was a fairy until he told them so. But after he had waved a little stick and changed himself into a parrot and back again, and into a donkey and back again, and into a gold fish and back again, they believed him.

He explained that he was in Dixie Land to see after the lemonade-stand crop for next year.

"I've just been over to the lemon orchard and the trees are simply loaded," he said. "Watch big fellows as yellow as canary birds."

"How do they make pink lemonade?" asked Nancy.

"Out of pink lemons," said the circus fairy quickly. "Or that is, they would make it out of pink lemons if there were any pink lemons to make it out of. Perhaps they put roses in it. I'll watch next time and see and I'll write you a letter and tell you, if you give me your address. But there! We're spending all our time talking about lemons! As though the elephants cared a whop-dee about lemons! Why, they are sleeping away nights dreaming of mean, worryful-about-peanuts, and it's up to me to see that the crop of peanuts in Dixie Land is bigger than ever. Come along, kiddies! Left, right, left, right, left to the peanut field. Here we are!"

"Why there isn't a tree!" cried Nick. "I thought nuts grew on trees!"

"Not peanuts," explained the circus fairy. "They grow on those little bushes in the sand."

"Why, I don't see a nut!" said Nancy, dropping down on her knees.

"That's because the peanut bushes are too modest to boast. But the nuts are there just the same. As soon as a nut begins to grow on the end of a little branch, the bush shakes the nut down under the sand to do the rest of its growing, and to get ripe. I'm going to peep! Come along and peep, too, if you wish."

So Nancy and Nick followed the circus fairy along the sandy rows, and every here and there where he scented away patches of sand, would there a fine peanut hiding underneath!

"My, but there are a lot!" said Nick.

"I don't think the elephants need to worry," nodded the circus fairy happily. "Or the children, either. Now I'll go and tell the peanut man to get his roaster ready, and the paper-bag man to get his paper bags ready. Everything is in fine shape in Dixie Land!"

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

AMUSEMENT NOTES

self again this week and puts all he has into his role as the proud father, with excellent results. Miss Corinne as the mother is at her best and that is saying a good deal.

The lines are snappy throughout and there are a few scenes, moments that are immediately relieved by fresh humor. The production shows a scene in the living room of the Chester Blake home just before the nurse springs the pleasing news that "it's a boy." The Blake home is in Cambridge, a little village in Pennsylvania, town lying about a dozen miles or so from Scranton. In this town with its 20,000 population young Blake is known as "Woodyard." Blake because of his successful start and conduct of a 10-cent store, Mr. Browne and Miss Corinne as the Blakes, and William Thompson as Marguerite Blaine as the "in-laws" make two great couples.

Three weeks after the baby is born, the day of the christening, by the way, P. W. Pendleton, representative of a big chain of stores, comes to the Blake home and paints a vivid picture of New York life, offering $10,000 a year to Blake to sell out and join him in the city as an executive. Blake is for sticking to the little coal town where the freemen's hall in Simpson every year is the main social attraction of the county, and the band concert from the hotel porch every Saturday night is the big midsummer gala. Rita Pendleton (Miss Andrews) paints such a picture of life in the metropolis that Mrs. Blake teases until her husband capitulates.

On arrival in New York, Mrs. Blake starts the rounds with Rita Pendleton, the poor mother-in-law being left home as baby's nurse. Inside of a year Blake finds that while he might be "Woodyard" Blake in Carbondale among its 20,000 inhabitants, he is just "Ten-Cent" Blake to the six millions of New York. About as his wife goes up to this, there are many more such disclosures that come in rapid-fire order. Love of course triumphs in the end after a flock of misunderstandings, and the baby is again in first place among the Blakes. Frank Parara and John Rowe, as city slicker and hick, respectively, have a great race for the heart and hand of the charming ingenue that adds zest to the play. Of course the hick wins on form in the final lap.

John Rowe has some funny lines that he puts across in his inimitable manner. Malcolm MacLeod has a double role which he handles with his usual skill. Richard Morgan lives up to the highest expectations. Miss Andrews, you can't help but admire in a difficult role. The musical program offered by Earle Rison and his sextet of soloist musicians is above ordinary.

COMMITTEE OPPOSED IN PART TO TRAFFIC RECOMMENDATIONS

City Council Committee on Public Safety Does Not Favor Elimination of Street Car Stops as Recommended by the Superintendent of Police

The city council committee on public safety, which will report to the council tonight upon the traffic and parking recommendations submitted to it by Sgt. Thomas R. Atkinson, does not favor the elimination of street car stops in Lowell and Central streets as suggested by the police chief, but gives its approval to the remainder of the report in full.

Members of the committee believe this recommendation too radical and would be inclined to work a distinct hardship upon street car patrons who wish to leave or board cars in that district.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

"POWDER RIVER" AT THE REV. DR. CLIFFORD DEAD
AUDITORIUM TONIGHT

"Powder River" the motion picture film of American armies in action in France during the World War, released by the United States War Department, will be shown at the Memorial Auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock. It will be repeated tomorrow, Wednesday, at 4:15 and 8 p.m., the afternoon showing being particularly for younger people, although adults are urged to attend at that time if they desire.

Every ex-serviceman in Lowell and surrounding towns and all members of service men's families will want to see this motion picture, which vividly depicts the offensive maneuvers of the Yankee troops at Cantigny, Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel and in the Argonne. The picture is one of 13 reels and will be preceded by 1500 feet of encaustic German submarine warfare film captured with the U-55. Congressman John Jacob Rogers will speak briefly before the picture and there will be singing by a service men's quartet.

The coming of "Powder River" has caused widespread discussion and it is expected the Auditorium will be filled on both evenings as well as at the Wednesday matinee at 4:15 o'clock. Walker-Rogers post, V.F.W., is in charge of the picture while in Lowell and all profits will go toward the maintenance of this splendid veterans' organization.

AT LOCAL COURTHOUSE GEORGE H. TAYLOR DEAD

Four Separate Sessions Today in the Courthouse in Gorham Street • Well Known Lowell Citizen Passed Away Suddenly After Short Illness

Four separate sessions were started at Gorham street courthouse this morning at 10 o'clock. On the first door Judge White as referee concluded the began guardianship petition hearing and commenced on contested divorces. Judge White is sitting in the county commissioners' room.

Judge John C. Loring is sitting in probate court and commenced his calendar with uncontested divorce cases. Uncontested divorces are also being heard in the criminal court room on the second floor by Judge Nelson P. Brown, presiding over jury-waived superior court.

Judge Stanley E. Qua is presiding in superior court jury cases in the main courtroom. The case now on trial there is a tort action brought by Oliver Laveigne as administrator of the estate of his father, against Alfred Danaborka, A. J. Blazen and J. J. Hennessy appear for the plaintiff and Danaborka & Danaborka for the defendant. It is charged the plaintiff in October, 1922, upon the death of Oliver Laveigne converted $500 in cash and about $50 in clothing to his own use.

Thirty Collinsville school children visited the courthouse this afternoon as a part of their study of civics. The case of Ella M. Emery against Martina A. Gage went to the jury this morning. Judge Qua completed his charges at about 11:30 o'clock. The plaintiff is the widow of Nathaniel A. Emery, for 40 years or so an employee of the Gage family.

Mr. Emery met his death from injuries sustained when a sled owned by the defendant overturned. He was employed by the defendant in the harvesting of ice. It is held by the plaintiff that there was negligence in caring for equipment and failure to warn the deceased of the hazard connected with the work. The ad damnum is set at $10,000.

The civil action brought against Lillian A. Pondleton et al by the Locke Coal Co. of Malden was concluded before Judge Brown yesterday afternoon and decision reserved.

Death last night claimed George H. Taylor, one of Lowell's best known citizens and for years active in its business, church and fraternal circles. After an illness of about two weeks, he died unexpectedly at his home, 29 Twelfth street, aged 67 years. He was a member of the Lowell cemetery commission.

Lowell perhaps knew George H. Taylor best in his position as manager of the C. I. Hood Co., with which concern he was connected for nearly 40 years. He first entered the Hood employ in 1884, eventually working up to the management. He was born in Springfield, Vt., June 5, 1856, son of Luke B. and Matilda Taylor. His family moved to Lowell in 1860, and his education was received in the public schools of the city. He entered the employ of the Lowell Daily Courier as a carrier in 1870 and later went into the composing room to learn the printer's trade. Subsequently he moved into the news room and handled various tasks in the editorial department. In March of 1873 he married Mattie J. Morrill.

Mr. Taylor's public service included membership in the common council 1897 and 1898 and he served as an alderman in 1899 and 1900. For 15 years he served as a director and chairman of the investment committee of the Lowell Co-operative bank and during the World War was a member of the exemption board of Division 1.

For many years Mr. Taylor was active in the work and welfare of the First Baptist church of which he was senior deacon. For more than 30 years he served as assistant superintendent and superintendent of the church Sunday school, and also was first vice president of the Boston Baptist Social union.

He is survived by his wife; two sons, Harry C. and Ralph G. Taylor; one sister, Minnie F. Taylor, and two grandchildren, Stanley M. and Norman C. Taylor.
